

SAFETY PRINCIPLES

Our company is operating according to the following principles of safety:

- Health and safety is part of our life and the way we work every day.
- As people are our most important asset, nothing is more important than our employees' safety, as well as the safety of our production, quality, sales and profit.
- No activity should be carried out if it is unsafe. We produce products that are safe to manufacture, use and recycle.
- Safety is everyone's responsibility, all of us must co-operate.
- All accidents and occupational ill-health are preventable. We provide our employees with all the necessary information and education, which is needed to a safe work-environment.
- Success is achieved when safety is in our culture through organizational control, co-operation between people, communication throughout the business and competence of individuals.
- We operate our facilities in full compliance with all national legal requirements, international standards and the Statement of General Business Principles.
